Experience timings

The table below lists timings for our Who was William Wilberforce? Experience, whether you are bringing one or two groups, and then timings for lunches and self-directed time if you booked these via Eventbrite.

If you are bringing two groups, we strongly advise you to book lunches and self-directed time on site unless your groups are arriving and departing from the site separately.

Session timings cannot be changed. There is a fixed 30-minute break between sessions if you are bringing two groups - this allows us to reset the room and resources.

If bringing two groups, both groups will have lunch at the same time - in separate parts of the Education Room.

Post Visit Activity Suggestions

- Write a biography about William Wilberforce's life, using information learned from the visit to Wilberforce House Museum.
- The group should research what impact Wilberforce has had on life in Britain and around the world in modern times.
- Look at aspects of West African culture such as art, traditional cloth and masks and music. Create art inspired by the displays within the museum.
